MecaBrush uses Createx water-based acrylic paints, which are formulated for use on plastic, fabric, and a variety of other surfaces, when painting batting helmets. Createx Airbrush paint meets ASTM D-4236 standards. Water-based paint will not harm or compromise the ABS plastic of batting helmets.

No paint, cleaners, or clear coat containing petroleum based ingredients are used in the process of airbrushing helmets.

Petroleum based products can seriously compromise the plastic of batting helmets and users are strongly urged never to use paint pens or other paints that contain petroleum products.

Prolonged exposure to direct sunlight may cause premature color fade. Users are encouraged to store their helmets in helmet bags when not in use.

Players should use common sense and inspect their helmets for damage or deterioration before each use. Do not use any helmet if the shell is cracked or deformed or if interior is deteriorated or modified.

No helmet protects from every possible injury. MecaBrush accepts no liability or responsibility for player's safety during use of any helmet.
